

deftones discography and songlist

I've been a Deftones fanatic for years now. A recordstore in Amsterdam was selling 'Adrenaline' after it just came out and were promoting it by putting a small handwritten sticker on the cover saying 'For fans of Helmet'. Maybe I have to be thankfull to the person who put the sticker on it, cuz it made me buy it and ever since that moment I've been hooked on Deftones and everything about them. After a few cancellations in 1996 the band finally did their first European Tour in 1997, also the first time I saw them live. That even proved me more that this band was something special and from that moment on I bought every t-shirt and every item which had to do with the band. In 1999 me and my long-time buddy Thijz, a Deftones fan also, build a website (www.dutchdeftones.com R.I.P.) to expose all the stuff we knew and own about the band and share it with other fans. Other fans could send information to make the site a great source for more fans. By that time another great fansite was born called www.deftonesworld.com. That website is still alive and is maintained by my Portugese pal Nuno Rolinho. Also de fansite is still famous for being the best website/source for Deftonesfans out there.

I will be honest to say that I thought that the power and energy, the first Deftones live performances where famous for, died a little round 2001 but still, on recordings Deftones remained an outstanding, fresh band, re-inveniting themselves all the time. As a fanatic my favorite thing to collect is the stuff they put out on record and everything that comes along with it. I'm talking about CD's, CD singles, vinyl, cassettes, samplers, promo's and all that kind of stuff. Over the years I've been collecting and building a knowledge about the stuff which is out there. As I became a little older I stopt buying their t-shirts because they put out so many and they became more expensive too. Today I still collect recorded items and I thought it was time to share it with others. Maybe I also did it to get in contact with people who also own a lot of cool stuff where I can share information with. Anyway I hope you all enjoy this nerdy information stuff. If you have questions, changes or extra info, please contact me and I will update this list.

Enjoy!
